Getting started
Understand the different types of meetings and optimize your connection for the best meetings

Types of Team Meetings

1. Traditional private meetings
   You can schedule a private meeting with anyone (even external guests), even if they don’t use Teams.

2. Meeting in a chat
   Meetings within chat are great for working with a smaller group or for a quick touch base.

3. Channel meetings
   These meetings are associated with a channel, so all team members can choose whether to join the meeting, view the agenda and conversation, and share files—all from within that channel. Add all Teams members are invited not just channel in Add Required Attendees so it will reflect in Outlook.

Maximizing your Internet Bandwidth

1. Use your best connection
   A wired network connection is best. When using a wireless connection, consider your distance from the router and obstacles in between that can affect your connection quality. Recommendation to not be on VPN.

2. Test your current Internet connection speed
   If you are experiencing connectivity or bandwidth issues, you can run an Internet Speed Test (Speed Test) to determine if the issue is your local home network.
   - BEST: Connect via wired Ethernet to your home router
   - GOOD: 5GHz Wi-Fi provides internet at faster speeds, but to smaller areas of your house
   - OK: 2.4GHz Wi-Fi provides internet to a larger area, but sacrifices speed

3. Verify/Test Connectivity to Office 365 Services
   This site gives you clear feedback for connectivity to Office 365 and provides suggestions on things you can do to improve the connectivity. Network Performance for O365

4. Consider your bandwidth usage
   Limit usage of other services (e.g. Netflix, YouTube and XboxLive)

If your home network is experiencing issues, try:

- Joining a Teams meeting through your mobile phone. Teams App
- If Audio Conferencing numbers are available dial into the Teams meeting
- Dial into the meeting with a single touch. Join from Teams or Outlook Calendar via “Dial In” or “Call Me” if available. (screenshot to the right)

NOTE: “Call Me” may incur charges for your company so it is recommended to “Dial In”.

12. Start Recording: When you record a meeting, a banner will appear, letting attendees know that the recording has begun. You can access the recording after the meeting ends in the meeting chat or in Stream.

13. Start transcription: Live Captions display the text version of the audio in the call. This can be enabled via the control bar within the Call window.

Breakout Rooms (pages 1 of 5)

Individual features contained in this slide may change and should not be relied upon in making purchasing decisions. For official Breakout Room feature and availability dates, please check the Microsoft public roadmap.

1. Following the same steps as joining a Teams meeting but with the updated toolbar, you’ll now see new icon.

2. Use the dropdown menu to select the number of rooms you would like. You can create up to 50 breakout rooms in a single meeting. You have two options for adding participants to rooms:
   - Automatically: Teams divides participants equally between the rooms.
   - Manually: You can choose which room each participant is placed in.

Select Create Rooms. The Breakout Rooms pane will open.

3. Manage your rooms from the Breakout Rooms pane
   To rename your rooms, select the ellipses [...] next to each breakout session and select Rename room.

4. By default, when you select Start rooms, participants are automatically moved to their room without warning. If you would like participants to have the option to join or decline the breakout room, select the ellipses [...] next to the Breakout Rooms header and deselect the check box for Automatically move people into opened rooms. Participants will see the following dialogue box when breakout rooms are open:
Manually assign participants to breakout rooms

If you chose to manually assign participants to rooms, select Assign participants to expand the name list. Select the check boxes next to participants you want to assign to your first breakout room, then select the ellipses [...] to select the breakout room name. Repeat these steps until all participants are assigned to a room.

Note: Participants who dial in via a phone or Teams device cannot be added to a breakout room. Those participants will remain in the main meeting when breakout sessions start.

If need to re-assign participant(s), expand the name list, select the participant(s), select the ellipses [...], then select Unassigned or another room name.

Start breakout rooms

When you are ready to start your breakout sessions, select Start rooms.

Or you can open only specific rooms by selecting the ellipses [...] by the room name and selecting Open room.

You will see participants leaving the main meeting and joining their breakout room.

If a participant leaves their breakout room the organizer can move the participant back to the breakout room by selecting the ellipses [...] next to the participant’s name and select Ask to join.

If a participant joins the main meeting late after breakout rooms have opened, the organizer can add the participant to a breakout room. If the participant misses the notification to join the room, select Ask to join.
Send Announcements
The meeting organizer can send announcements to all participants while breakout rooms are open. Select the ellipse [...] by the Breakout Rooms header.

For example, remind participants to @mention the meeting organizer when they need help, or give them a five-minute countdown before pulling them back into the main room. Participants receive the announcement in their breakout rooms’ chat.

Pull participants back to the main meeting
Select Close rooms to pull all the participants back to the main room.

Or select the ellipses [...] for a specific breakout room, then select Close room. Once a breakout room is closed, chat for that session is closed. Participants can’t continue to chat there.

Note: Artifacts (chats, files, and recordings) from breakout sessions are viewable by room participants. Only the organizer will have access to artifacts from all breakout rooms.
Join breakout rooms

When the meeting organizer opens your assigned breakout room, you will automatically be moved there. If the organizer deselected the check box for Automatically move people into opened rooms, you will see this dialog box.

Notes

- Participants cannot join breakout rooms using the same account from multiple devices.
- Participants in breakout rooms cannot add others to the meeting chat, copy meeting details, nudge others to join the meeting, or use “call me back.”
- A meeting organizer can join a breakout after it is opened by selecting the ellipse [...] next to a room name and selecting Join room.

Leave breakout rooms

If you select Leave from the control bar in your breakout room, you will hang up—leaving both the breakout and the main session. You can rejoin the main session from your Outlook or Teams calendar.

Once the meeting organizer closes your breakout room you will automatically return to the main meeting. If the organizer deselected the check box for Automatically move people into opened rooms, you will see this dialog box:

If the organizer joins a breakout room and selects End, the breakout room will close. Participants can then rejoin the main meeting by selecting Join main room on the Breakout room has closed dialog box.

Teams meeting Reactions, including Raise your hand

You can now react during a meeting using emojis—thumbs up, heart, applause, and laughing emoji—that appear to all participants. Live reactions allow participants to express themselves while on mute and without interrupting. Speakers get instant feedback with this indication of attendee sentiment.

How to use live reactions:
During a meeting in Teams, select the Reaction icon on the control bar, and select from the reaction options (other than Raise hand). Your reaction will be visible to all participants for three seconds.

Do you have something to say in a Teams meeting and don’t want to interrupt the presenter? Select the Raise your hand icon in the meeting control bar. Your name will be shown to other attendees by the Participants icon for 10 seconds, followed by a number inside a red circle. A raised hand icon will also show by your name in the Participants pane and on your video, photo, or avatar. The meeting organizer will be able to see everyone who raised their hand, in the order they were raised.

To lower your hand when your question has been answered, select the hand icon again.
