

Microsoft Surface + WillKay

This summer, Microsoft has partnered with illustrator Willkay, to demonstrate how you can take your imagination to a completely new world, with the new Surface Go.

We sent Willkay out into his local neighbourhood to find scenes that he could bring to life using Microsoft Photo Editor, using his light-hearted, playful and colourful illustrations.

To help inspire you to go, get out and create, Willkay has shared some of his top tips – and don't forget to share your creations with us @Surface_UK #GolImagine...

Willkay's top tips:

Look out for familiar shapes in the landscapes or scenes – and think about how you can add your own artistic spin

Choose locations, buildings, buses – anything that has bold architecture and bring them to life

Take more than one picture, be open to playing around with colours, words and creating new shapes

Be free and open minded about your pictures, release the artist in you!

Why not try and find items with interesting shapes in your house and garden – inspiration can be found anywhere!

It's time for you to get creative - turn your local pond into a Flamingo's paradise or the canal into the new home of the Loch Ness monster. By using Microsoft Photo Editor, you can make everyday scenes, buildings and objects into works of art, by reimagining them with your own artistic twist.
